DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

1. The information disclosure statement (IDS) submitted was 07/05/2000. The submission is in compliance with the provisions of 37 CFR 1.97. Accordingly, the information disclosure statement is being considered by the examiner.

Priority

1. Acknowledgment is made of applicant's claim for foreign priority under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.
2. Claim 1-4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.
3. Regarding claim 1, the first processing means fails to show temporary values being processed by a Black-Generation and Under Color Removal.
4. Regarding claims 2-4, depend on claim 1 and are therefore rejected for the same reasons.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Furuya et al. US 6456404.

7. Regarding claim 1, Furuya et al. teaches of an object type being discriminated for each of the objects constituting the input image (column 5, lines 5-10) and he shows that the object types are character, graphics and photographic image (figure 3), which reads on an object identifying circuit for determining whether a data format of the input image data is a non picture format or a picture format. Furuya et al. teaches of a color converting process unit (column 5, lines 59-60 and figure 3), which reads on a color conversion of the input data of the first processing means on non-picture format. Furuya et al. also teaches of a color correcting process unit for the character performs color matching process such that a color difference between the input color and an output color becomes minimum (column 6, lines 6-10), which reads on first processing means of input image data of the non-picture image format and when values of the respective color separated input signals are minimum, making values of the respective cyan magenta and yellow color output signals minimum. He also teaches that black is emphasized (column 6, lines 31-32), which reads on the value of the black color output signal is maximum. Furuya et al. teaches of a color converting process unit (column 5, lines 59-60 and figure 3), which reads on color conversion of input image data of the second processing means of a picture format. Furuya et al. teaches that the number of colors is smaller than the predetermined value in graphics image, which discriminates the image as a graphics image (column 5, lines 37-38), which reads on setting cyan, magenta and yellow color output signals to temporary values slightly smaller than the maximum values and on the values of the respective color separated input color signals are minimum. Furuya et al. teaches of a color converting unit that performs under color removal and the CMYK data is outputted to a printer (column 6, lines 19-20 and column 6, lines 49-50), which reads on processing the temporary values by a black generation and under color removal processing corresponding to said color output device.
